

ADITI SINGH

APPLIED MICROECONOMIST | DEVELOPMENT, AGRICULTURE & HEALTH

singh.aditi@nyu.edu | +971 50 997 0829 (UAE) | +1 236 965 4060 (Canada)

LinkedIn | Website | Canadian Permanent Resident

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENT

Postdoctoral Associate, Economics, New York University Abu Dhabi

2025–Present

EDUCATION

PhD, Economics, University of British Columbia

2019–2025

Dissertation: The Long Shadow of Development and Political Transformations:

Essays on Social Outcomes in India

Supervisors: Nathan Nunn and Matt Lowe

MA, Economics, Delhi School of Economics

2015–2017

BA, Economics, Hindu College, University of Delhi

2012–2015

RESEARCH INTERESTS

Development economics; agricultural economics; health economics; economic history

WORKING PAPERS

From Blessing to Burden: The Long-Run Effects of India's Green Revolution (Preparing for submission)

Coercive Policies and the Persistence of Violence: Evidence from Male Sterilizations in India (with Sarah Vincent; Submitted)

Role of Caste-Based Political Parties in Financial Inclusion in India

WORK IN PROGRESS

Liberalisation, Crop Adaptation and Regional Catch-Up in India (with Veda Narasimhan)

River Topology, Water Allocation and Rural Welfare (with David Blakeslee and Samreen Malik)

Bt Cotton, Pesticide Exposure and Reproductive Health

Fertilizer Shocks, Crop Adaptation and Household Welfare in Indonesia (with Veda Narasimhan, Wifag Adnan, and Xiangyu Meng)

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Teaching Assistant, Vancouver School of Economics

2021–2025

Undergraduate Microeconomics; Undergraduate Macroeconomics; Game Theory; Fertility, Families and Human Migration

Teaching Assistant, Indian School of Business

2019

MBA Information Economics

GRANTS, FELLOWSHIPS & AWARDS

Four Year Doctoral Fellowship and Tuition Fellowship, University of British Columbia

2019–2023

President's Academic Excellence Initiative and International Student Tuition Award, UBC

2019–2024

Centre for Innovative Data in Economics Research (CIDER) Small Grant, UBC

2022–2023

Professor Balveer and Ranjana Singh Memorial Scholarship, University of Delhi

2015–2016

SELECTED POLICY WRITING

When Progress Comes with a Price: The Lasting Impact of India's Green Revolution – Economics That Really Matters

2024

Forced Male Sterilisation and Violence Against Women: Evidence from 'Emergency India' – Ideas for India

2024

Does Forced Male Sterilization Lead to an Increase in Violence? Evidence from Emergency India – Economics That Really Matters

2024

CONFERENCES, SEMINARS & WORKSHOPS

2027 ASSA (forthcoming)
2026 EEA–ESEM Conference; University of Exeter Diversity Workshop; AMES–CSW Econometric Society
2025 NEUDC; AHEA; Ashoka University; New York University Abu Dhabi
2024 WEAI; Simon Fraser University; Indian Statistical Institute; University of Stuttgart

SELECTED RESEARCH & POLICY EXPERIENCE

- Historical coercive sterilization study: Designed the qualitative research package and trained the team implementing 94 planned interviews across four districts in India; supporting field implementation and data-quality processes.
- Government-commissioned fiscal and socioeconomic analysis: Evaluated West Bengal’s public finances and social-sector outcomes for India’s Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation; developed fiscal projections and policy recommendations.

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Referee: Quarterly Journal of Economics; Economic Modelling; Studies in Family Planning

OTHER PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Research Intern, Indian School of Business	2019
Research Associate, Indian Statistical Institute	2018–2019
Business Analyst, International Risk Management, American Express	2017–2018

METHODS, TOOLS & LANGUAGES

Research tools: Stata, Python, R, ArcGIS Pro, SurveyCTO, Qualtrics, Git/GitHub; questionnaire design, field-team training, qualitative data management, coding and synthesis
Languages: English and Hindi